How did you first learn about the FFA?

I first learned about FFA from the Smyrna Middle school course selection catalog. My dad wanted me to join STEM classes but that wasn't my forte so I found a home in a different pathway: Agricultural Sciences.

What has been your most challenging FFA experience?

My most challenging FFA experience would have to be running for state office. As a candidate there are quite a few hoops to try to jump through, but the process truly makes you investigate yourself and the level of your commitment. Also in gaining office I chose to turn down my acceptance to Cornell University. These were difficult tasks for me to accomplish.

What are you most looking forward to during your year as a State Officer?

I am most excited to meet new members that aren't sure if FFA is the place or even a place for them. I want to be a strong factor in convincing them of the opportunities that this unparalleled organization has to offer.
